

Night Creatures Vertical Poem

Write a vertical poem about St. Martin's nocturnal wildlife!

When the sun goes down, St. Martin's nocturnal animals come out! Nocturnal animals are animals that are active at night. Many of them hide during the day. At night, you can hear different nature sounds and see different animals. Bats, moths, fireflies, whistling frogs, spiders, geckos and scorpions are just some of them!

To create your poem, first pick your word! Write it vertically. Then, use the letters one by one to start each line of your poem. We chose "night" but you can pick any word you want. Maybe it's a word related to night, like stars or moon. Maybe it's the name of a nocturnal animal, or something else. It's up to you!

Here's how to set it up:

N _____
I _____
G _____
H _____
T _____

Here's an example:

Now the moon
Is out, and the moths too
Gliding and swooping in the air, while spiders
Hunt silently on the ground, through
This world of night
